

Macroinvertebrates

Explore the life in a drop of water. How many different creatures can you find? At the macroinvertebrate station students collect and identify aquatic insects, crustaceans, and mollusks. We have great tools for magnifying and observing these amazing animals. Have you ever seen a dragonfly's jaw? See the whirlpool feeding action of the scud. Understand the amazing diversity within one genus of Mayfly.