*"If you want people to care about the river,
you have to teach them about the river."
— Pete Seeger*

Dear Friends,

In 2010, Clearwater saw many beautiful sunrises and sunsets and the positive milestones that we reached are due to the continued support of people just like you!

This past year, Clearwater's education programs served almost 20,000 kids from New York City to Albany, making certain that Pete Seeger's legacy continues on into the future. President Obama announced a critical piece of new legislation entitled America's Great Outdoors Initiative and invited youth to listening sessions around the country. Clearwater youth attended the Hudson Valley sessions in force and were termed some of the most outspoken and passionate participants. Voices raised, they were heard around the country, further proving that inspiring, educating, and activating the next generation of leaders is critical!

The 2009-2010 winter maintenance season saw Clearwater complete the most ambitious and proactive 5-year sloop restoration plan in our 41-year history, completely exposing the bow down to the stern for the first time since her launch. This work will allow the sloop Clearwater to continue to offer world-class environmental education programming for another 40 years.

We're still monitoring the GE PCB cleanup, seeing to the health and wellbeing of our river and the Hudson Valley's residents. By teaching communities to take back their watersheds, we are supporting and guiding efforts to develop and implement green infrastructure plans through our Green Cities Initiative. In the coming year, we will be expanding the Initiative to more river cities, including more youth, community leaders, and government officials in the valuable process of greening their own cities.

Clearwater is looking forward to a bright future. For the first time in our over 40-year history, we are solidifying plans to create an official home port for the sloop Clearwater's winter maintenance period. This will allow the sloop Clearwater to continue to serve people from Albany to New York City. We also intend to offer community maritime and boat building, and environmental education classes in a city known for its storied maritime and industrial past.

Together, we've made enormous strides. Our river communities are safer, healthier, and happier because of the work we've done together. But we still face great challenges, and the next generation needs our help to tackle the looming trials they and their planet will face.

We thank you for joining us in our mission to preserve and protect the Hudson River. Let's continue to get inspired, educated and activated together!

Allan Shope, President of the Board

Jeff Rumpf, Executive Director

OUR MISSION

Clearwater's strategy to inspire, educate and activate New York State's communities is still a powerful formula for success. Clearwater has continually created effective and synergetic program departments based on each of these themes. Created by a group of citizens tired of the Hudson River being maintained as an open sewer, our mission is to preserve and protect the Hudson River for the benefit of its eco-system and human communities while creating new environmental leaders for a sustainable future.

Clearwater is a 12-year old who starts a recycling program in their school; a leader of the Department of Environmental Conservation; a business owner incubating green jobs; a musician singing for a cleaner river or a parent who teaches their kids how to live in harmony with nature. At this critical time, we need to mobilize all of our resources to grow the next generation of environmental leaders. As Pete Seeger says, "The time is now, or we will not, I fear, have a future for the human race."

BE A PART OF A
LITTLE ORGANIZATION THAT'S MAKING A BIG DIFFERENCE!

WHERE WE WORK

We sail the entire Hudson River from Albany to the New York Harbor, and into the Long Island Sound, offering 21 docks to choose from, throughout the sailing season. Through our Green Cities Initiative, we work in river communities, protecting tributaries that spill into the Hudson River.

Hudson River Sloop Clearwater was born with music flowing through its core, rousing our members, partners, and supporters to enact change and 2010 was a year of absolutely inspiring moments! From our sloop-based programs and Camp Clearwater, to our new Power of Song program, Clearwater utilizes music and the arts to educate our citizenry about our history and to inspire us to change our futures. Via song and participation we work to establish our nation's legacy and define its character. Over the course of 2010, Clearwater celebrated the environmental milestones we have achieved over 40 years with the following events, and made clear the changes still needing to be made.

RIVER DAY 2010

In early June, Clearwater celebrated the second annual River Day with various partners, friends and supporters on a sail up the Hudson River. Starting with a New York State Department of Environmental Protection Eel Monitoring program sail in the morning, and ending the day with a celebratory sail from Poughkeepsie to Kingston, the day proved to be a wonderful celebration of the river and of how collaborating to save our environment is the best way to go.

A FUN-FILLED FESTIVAL

An annual tradition in June, held on Father's Day weekend, Clearwater's Great Hudson River Revival is considered the summation of our organization's ideals: Bringing together almost a thousand passionate volunteers, unbelievable music and two days of focusing on our earth, our lives and each other. This year's Revival proved that the power of song is unwavering, as is the draw of community action and environmental stewardship. From performances by Pete Seeger and Clearwater's Power of Song Program, Toshi Reagon & Big Lovely, the Felice Brothers, and Steve Earle (with hundreds more, listed on page 40) this year proved that the Festival is here to stay- and it will be better than ever next year!

"Volunteering has always been a part of our family life, and in 2002 we started our fun, important, and rewarding volunteer work for Clearwater's Great Hudson River Revival. We believe in protecting and preserving the Hudson River and informing people about our environment. This is one of the ways in which we can leave the world a better place."

BIRTHDAY BASH FOR A BIG SUPPORTER

In November, Clearwater was incredibly pleased to be a part of an eclectic musical celebration of composer & multi-instrumentalist David Amram's 80th Birthday held at Symphony Space in New York City. Featuring the 60-piece Queens College Orchestra, Maurice Peress, conductor; Brooklyn Conservatory of Music Jazz Orchestra & Gospel Choir; Earl McIntyre; Renee Manning; film clips, jazz & poetry, world music, special guests and more, it was a night to remember! Clearwater, in addition to the Woody Guthrie Foundation, was a partial beneficiary of the evening's proceeds.

The evening also featured the New York premiere of Amram's "Symphonic Variations on a Song by Woody Guthrie" performed in memory of Odetta by the 60-piece Queens College Orchestra conducted by Maurice Peress. The work was introduced by Nora Guthrie, who commissioned it with support from the Guthrie Foundation, based on her father's song "This Land is Your Land." We were very happy to be included in this wonderful birthday bash for a dear Clearwater friend.

CLEARWATER HOUSE PARTIES

When the founders of Clearwater started the organization so many decades ago, they had a major problem to figure out: How were they going to raise the funds to build a replica of the beautiful wooden boats that historically sailed the Hudson River? More importantly, how were they going to get people to care in a lasting way about the river so they didn't just give a dollar here, or ten dollars there, but instead, invested their lives in taking care of one of their greatest natural and historical resources, directly in many of their backyards? One of Pete Seeger's answers became house parties.

For decades, Clearwater has helped members and friends alike learn how to throw a Clearwater House Party. A very easy thing to do, one simply needs to invite anywhere from ten to one thousand friends, play some music and have everyone bring a dish to share. We're grateful for the wide range in house parties some of our friends put on this year and invite you all to spread the message of environmental stewardship to your friends and family!

"Being a part of this organization has enriched my life in many ways. I've had the good fortune to work with folks who are dedicated and share the same goals. If you haven't yet volunteered, don't miss the opportunity. You'll find it rewarding to be a part of this team."

– Vic Paglia, Clearwater Member and Volunteer since 1988

EDUCATE

The sloop Clearwater, along with the schooner Mystic Whaler, serves as a living time machine as well as a platform for experiencing all the Hudson River has to offer. We use these boats and the river to help make abstract concepts concrete by making students active parts of the program. Clearwater strives to show kids the connections the river has to them and to the communities and land that surround it. By offering visits to the classroom, website resources, internships and volunteer positions and a variety of field programs, Clearwater provides many opportunities for kids to plug into our “pipeline” of learning.

GROWING UP WITH CHANGING TIDES

The Tideline Program is a hands-on, land-based learning experience conducted by Clearwater at the Esopus Meadows Environmental Center in the Town of Esopus, NY, in classrooms or in a local riverfront park. This interdisciplinary program enables younger students to embrace the many educational opportunities offered by the magnificent Hudson River. Content and activities vary depending on grade level and curriculum studies, but all programs divide the students into small groups, which then rotate through different activity stations.

Via the investigation of life in this amazing estuary, participating students are able to connect the ecology, beauty, and environmental challenges of the river to their own lives. Tideline programs incorporate many of the same program elements as our boat-based education program, but Tideline programs typically run for the entire school day, and can serve kids as young as kindergarteners.

Throughout the 2010 season, the program served over 1,500 students in the Hudson Valley. We are excited about how many young students we can serve through our Tideline program with this important first step in growing up with Clearwater programming.

Fall Kill Creek Week 2010

CLASSROOM UNDER SAIL

Sailing with schools and youth groups forms the heart of our education program. The sloop is much more than an historic replica and a symbol for clean rivers. Our Classroom of the Waves program introduces students of all ages to the ecology and history of the river. Students become part of our crew as they raise the sails, steer the boat, test for water quality, sing traditional sea and river songs, and identify the amazing diversity of life found in the Hudson estuary. Teachers and students can then return to the classroom and retrace their trip by connecting with the HRECOS water quality monitoring system that is linked directly to the sloop and to the Clearwater website. Each year, the sloop Clearwater and our sister ship, the schooner Mystic Whaler, bring over 10,000 students out on the river for a memorable experience that lasts far beyond their time onboard the boat.

CAMP CLEARWATER CREATES CAPTAINS FOR THE ENVIRONMENT

In 2010, Camp Clearwater completed its second program year, offering adventure and leadership building programs over 10-day sessions for younger teens from under-resourced, inner-city communities. These communities also tend to be at high risk for a lack of environmental education access, in addition to facing immense environmental justice hurdles. Almost fifty percent of 2010 participants were African American, while approximately seventeen percent identified as Latino. Clearwater's 2010 enrollees left with knowledge and respect for the natural world, having experienced first-hand the history, ecology, and culture of the Hudson River Valley.

Due to significant support for this program, Clearwater was able to fully scholarship the majority of the participants, in addition to ten scholarship students from University Settlement Society in New York City, a powerhouse youth development and social services organization.

EMPOWERING THE NEXT GENERATION OF LEADERS

Clearwater continued our established Young People at the Helm programs in 2010 and the youth empowerment sails included Young Women at the Helm, Young Men at the Helm, LGBTQ at the Helm and Advanced Young Women at the Helm. The sessions, serving high school aged youth, included our annual three-day programs for young women and young men from urban areas, as well as a new LGBTQ youth program.

We expanded and improved upon our model for the Young Women at the Helm Program to reach a much wider audience and were able to offer a three-day Young Men at the Helm pilot program, which was very well received. For the first time, Clearwater expanded the experience to four days with the Advanced Young Women at the Helm program to allow further scientific inquiry and guided learning. Participants were carefully chosen from a large pool of applicants who had either previously attended a Youth Empowerment Program or showed similar leadership skills and an environmental background. The young women attended shipboard classes, interacted with a variety of inspirational guest speakers and were able to independently perform almost all of the vessel operations by the final day.

"Hands-down, Clearwater's Young Women at the Helm program has molded me as a person, woman and individual. My confidence to strive has grown and my parents say that I've changed a lot since I started the program. The academic instruction was really insightful, it was hands on, and doing Clearwater programs really helps me with my knowledge of science."

– Emely Pena, 16 years old, YWH Graduate 2010, Current Power of Song participant

Young Women at the Helm 2010

The final Youth Empowerment Program for students who identify as Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Questioning and Allies (LGBTQ) focused on the Hudson Valley's most marginalized community. More than sixty percent of the participants were homeless as a result of their gender or sexual orientation and were searching for an accepting community in which to build their leadership abilities. By providing a safe, nurturing and accepting community, Clearwater continued its long history of celebrating diversity by empowering these LGBTQ youth and by specifically addressing environmental justice issues and developing community organizing skills.

CHANGING THE WORLD, ONE NOTE AT A TIME

Drawing on the history of the power of music in the environmental movement, in this country and especially in this organization, the Power of Song program was developed in 2009 at the express wish of our founder, Pete Seeger. The goal of this program is to allow youth the opportunity to explore the world of socially conscious music, expose them to an interactive learning experience and empower them to be active on social and environmental justice issues that concern them.

A highlight of this past year's Power of Song apprentice program included performing for the Obama Administration's America's Great Outdoor Initiative Listening Sessions at Marist College. In August 2010, over 300 Hudson Valley youth from Albany to NYC, and many of them from various Clearwater programs, participated in a national campaign by the Obama Administration to hear directly from the youth of America regarding their activism in the local environmental movement and what the Federal government can do to help. Clearwater program

"Sometimes, people think that a song is just a song, but suddenly, when you hear a bunch of people singing it together, you realize that song is helping people make a future that we can all believe in."

graduates were chosen to deliver their findings to Federal officials on the final day of these listening sessions.

Rewriting the lyrics to This Land is Your Land, and focusing on issues more critical to their generation, these youth submitted their policy recommendations via song and created a video to go along with it, all of which are available on our website. As a result of this, key members of the Obama Administration have termed Clearwater youth the most inspiring and moving group of youth they have seen on their tours to hundreds of communities throughout the country.

By request, the group performed at numerous locations, including Bethel Woods Performing Arts Center, the Great Hudson River Revival, and for EarthShareNY's Central Park Zoo Family Night in NYC. Over 2010, the Power of Song program proved to be a significant unifier and a great outreach tool for Clearwater programs.

While the program cultivates these young adults to expand their own musical talent for a good cause, it also provides school assembly programs. In the first year, through this broad outreach tool, we provided nine assemblies reaching over 3,500 students. We are excited to expand this part of the program in the coming years and teach more kids about the inspirational power of song.

ENVIRONMENTAL ACTION AND JUSTICE INITIATIVES

INDIAN POINT CAMPAIGN

In 2010, massive energy conglomerate Entergy's Indian Point nuclear power plant in Buchanan, NY continued to take in 2.5 billion gallons of water from the Hudson River and return it 15 degrees warmer, killing a billion fish last year alone. Situated on the Hudson River, this plant is 35 miles from New York City, in a region which is home to a population of over 20 million people. Clearwater and our partners continued to fight Entergy's massive misinformation campaign aimed at an ill-informed public. Additionally, the Nuclear Regulatory Commission must soon decide whether to extend the operating permit for the 35-year-old plant's two reactors. We believe it should not, and have continually opposed efforts on behalf of this energy giant to gain a new permit. A new permit for Indian Point would mean another 20 years of radioactive leaks, fish kills and potential disasters. Clearwater will continue working on this matter with its partners in the effort to keep New York residents safe.

HUDSON RIVER POLYCHLORINATED BIPHENYLS REMEDIATION

2010 was a major year for the Hudson River polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs) clean-up. Following the first year of dredging in 2009, during which 10 of 18 work areas were remediated, Clearwater actively participated in a Peer Review process – urging a rigorous set of performance standards for Phase 2, the remaining 35 miles of contaminated hotspots in the upper Hudson River. Multiple meetings with the Region 2 Office of the Environmental Protection Agency led to two trips to Washington, D.C., where Clearwater met with EPA Administrator Lisa Jackson and her staff. Clearwater made clear the critical need to minimize the resuspension or capping of contaminated sediments, and that the volatilization of PCBs into the air be prevented. Although we did not get everything we asked for, in December, General Electric announced that they would opt in to Phase 2 and complete the clean-up – a great way to end the year!

GREEN CITIES, CLEAR WATERS

With its developing Green Cities Initiative, Clearwater continues the legacy of our founder, Pete Seeger, by bringing environmental education, watershed awareness and stewardship training to under-resourced communities, thereby using community power to create green power.

The further development of this Initiative will assist Hudson River cities in incorporating principles of sustainability into all phases of municipal and community planning. The results will create a healthier, greener and more supportable and equitable socioeconomic Hudson Valley—one that does not simply consider environmental stewardship, but makes it a priority. This Initiative will work to serve as a unifying theme for Clearwater's environmental education, environmental action and justice programs and as a guiding principle for expanding our critical work to help promote a more sustainable future for our communities now, and for our future generations.

Rondout Creek Watershed

Clearwater has successfully engaged community stakeholders, municipalities, and the general public to become invested in the future of their watershed and land use principles, allowing community and environmental health to be considered a way of life for all, instead of a small few. In 2010, Clearwater's Rondout Creek Watershed Council (RCWC) had one of its most productive and successful years to date. The RCWC reported that all four towns, Wawarsing, Rochester, Marbletown and Rosendale, adopted their Inter-Municipal Agreements. The State of the Rondout Report (StORR) was incorporated into supporting sections of a draft watershed management plan. The RCWC's water resource protection efforts were closely coordinated with the NYC Department of Environmental Protection initiative in the upper Rondout, and the adjacent Lower Esopus and Wallkill watershed management groups. Clearwater hopes to expand this watershed planning and protection work in 2011 to include the tidal portion of Rondout, which runs through the City of Kingston and the Towns of Esopus and Ulster.

PCBs Remediation

Fall Kill Creek Watershed

The Fall Kill Watershed is located entirely in Dutchess County and encompasses five municipalities: the Towns of Clinton, Hyde Park, Pleasant Valley, Poughkeepsie and the City of Poughkeepsie. The Fall Kill Creek has had a history of being ignored, used as a dumping ground, or as the setting for unlawful activity such as drug trafficking. Recent efforts within the last five years by Clearwater, its partners and the Fall Kill Creek Committee have enlightened City residents in particular to the vast historical and future importance and to the beauty of this ecologically critical waterway. The Fall Kill Creek, which runs through the City and empties into the Hudson River, will hopefully continue to be considered a growing community asset. In 2010, the Fall Kill Watershed Committee (FKWC) and the Fall Kill Watershed Intermunicipal Council (FIC), have utilized key funding received via a Hudson River Estuary Program grant from the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation, to create strategic partnerships among local government, community trust partners, and various nonprofit leaders. In 2011, their hard work will ensure the follow-through of the Fall Kill Restoration Plan, which will provide ecosystem services while also providing green space and recreational opportunities for City residents.

Environmental Justice

Clearwater, along with Citizens for Equal Environmental Protection of the Hudson Valley (CEEP), and the Peekskill Environmental Justice Council, recently collaborated to create the Community-Based Environmental Justice Inventory (CBEJI), which can be found on the Clearwater website. This extensive process involved researching multiple sources of pollution, reviewing existing health data, and making an assessment of any disproportionate impacts on communities of color, ethnicity, or low-income populations in Peekskill. The CBEJI report included key findings in identifying major sources of pollution within the study area and a list of some pollutants released by these facilities. The report cites health effects commonly associated with exposure to those pollutants. The report also includes results of the Angler Survey of Hudson River fishermen from Verplanck to Annsville Creek that Clearwater completed in November 2010. The data provided in this report, along with its recommendations, can help in future planning to protect vulnerable communities from further pollution burdens and to preserve Peekskill's remaining natural resources. As a natural extension of this project, in 2011 Clearwater plans to implement a Climate Justice initiative in four Hudson Valley cities with funding from a highly competitive EPA Environmental Justice Small Grant awarded in 2010. This grant will utilize the template created by the Peekskill CBEJI to assess potential environmental, economic, public health, and safety impacts of climate change on communities of color and low income in Kingston, Poughkeepsie, Beacon, and Peekskill, each of which have waterfronts vulnerable to sea-level rise along their shorelines.

Rondout Creek Family Day 2010

Green Infrastructure

In the fall of 2009, Clearwater began actively working with The Hudson Valley Regional Council (HVRC) to conduct a green infrastructure (GI) planning project to protect and restore watersheds in the Hudson Valley region in New York State. In seven areas – some with several municipalities working together – HVRC's community outreach team has worked to develop conceptual project plans, in partnership with municipal leaders, property owners and others. These plans have facilitated ongoing planning, construction, and maintenance of green infrastructure practices and programs, and will continue to provide technical assistance for longer-term project development. The American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 has funded this outreach and planning project with funding administered by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation and is scheduled to be completed by early 2012.

"I've lived in Poughkeepsie since 1973 and just walked the Fall Kill for the first time several years ago! I am proud to volunteer on the Clearwater Fall Kill Watershed Committee. Following an organized clean-up day this year, glass from the Creek was being sorted out of the trash for a sculpture to be installed at the Mid-Hudson Children's Museum. I volunteered to put together a photo board about the Fall Kill for the installation opening, and I've been in love with the Fall Kill ever since - the various neighborhoods, the beautiful trees and wildflowers, the old stone walls, and the sound as the creek gurgles through the city... And we now have the new view from the Walkway of the waterfalls that precede the Fall Kill's entrance to the Hudson River, where the dramatic 'breathing' tides of the river can be seen so dramatically. I'm lucky to be able to call myself a Clearwater volunteer."

– Barbara Lindsey, Long Time Poughkeepsie Community Member and Volunteer With the Fall Kill Watershed Committee for the Fall Kill Creek, one of Clearwater's active Green Cities

"When I thought about my connection to the Hudson, I realized that we rely on it to bring in trade, industry, travelers, and new things to my eyes. The Hudson River is not just any body of water; it is ours. We can change the universe by being who we are and we can change the state of this water body by speaking out. Today, I can proudly say my name is Ashley Charles and I am a sailor!"

VOLUNTEERS

Clearwater was born of its volunteers – in 1966, Pete Seeger and several friends got the crazy notion to build a boat to save the Hudson River and over forty years later, the sloop Clearwater is still sailing strong, educating people about the River, so they grow up caring about the River. We are incredibly lucky to be able to rely on the strengths of our thousand-plus volunteers each year from electricians, musicians, professors, doctors and lawyers, to college students, biologists, jack-of-all-trades and elementary age children – nationally and internationally. Clearwater truly is made of a mélange of caring, passionate and dedicated people, who believe in the music, the spirit and the possibilities of Clearwater. Thank you to all of our invaluable friends who have helped save our environment this year by donating your time to the Great Hudson River Revival – especially members of the Revival Planning Committee (who are starred with a 🎵), educating on the sloop Clearwater and schooner Mystic Whaler, drafting the Rondout Creek Watershed Management Plan, corporate volunteer days, sloop clubs, office workers, environmental activists, and Re-Vamp the Camp builders! Thank you all for supporting Clearwater and our river.

"The reason I volunteer with Clearwater, and other organizations like Clearwater, is because I know that the small amount I do is actually valuable to the group. If everyone can give a little of their time to groups like Clearwater every year or every month or every week then we can make serious progress on the challenges we face to protect our clean air and water. Our work shows people that everyone can help find solutions to the problems we face and all it takes is that first step to get involved."

CLEARWATER'S GREAT HUDSON RIVER REVIVAL PERFORMERS

For over 40 years, Clearwater has been organizing this annual environmental and music festival to support the organization and raise awareness. We thank the 121 stage and field performers, storytellers, American Sign Language (ASL) Interpreters, jugglers, rovers and new vaudevill'n artists who entertained and educated us on June 19-20, 2010 in Croton Point Park.
