Young Women At the Helm

The Hudson River Sloop Clearwater invites you to be a part of a unique experience this summer onboard the tall ship, Clearwater. A replica of a 19th century Hudson River sailboat, Clearwater acts as a floating environmental classroom that seeks to inspire lifelong love for the natural world. Young Women at the Helm specifically seeks to engage young women from urban areas and the Hudson Valley in discovering and developing new talents and abilities in an amazing, unconventional, unforgettable experience.

When and Where? Young Women at the Helm takes place over three days in August from various docks along the Hudson River. Dates and locations vary, check the website for current information.

What are we doing? We'll be involved in a wide range of activities as individuals and in small groups. Activities will include sail raising, fishing with a trawl net, testing and examining water quality, steering and navigating the ship, learning sailors' arts, games and relaxing on the river. Several guest speakers will be talking about community leadership, careers, and the limitless opportunities open to women today.

Who? This program is open to 15-18 year old young women from urban areas and the Hudson Valley.

What do I bring? Participants will need clothes, sunblock, a rain jacket, a flashlight and a sleeping bag if you have one. All meals are provided once you reach the boat.

Is the boat safe? Yes. The Clearwater is Coast Guard approved, and a very stable platform for studying the Hudson River. This is an educational program, not a hard-core sailing challenge. All activities will be supervised by a crewmember. Life jackets are available. We will only be on the river, so sea-sickness is usually not a problem. We never sail in dangerous weather, such as thunderstorms. If students or parents have any questions, please call our office and speak with an educator at (845) 265 8080 ext. 7115.

Will we spend the night on the boat? No. We will be on the boat from about 9:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. or so each day. The nights will be spent on land at camping along the banks of the river. Female Clearwater staff will spend the night with participants at the campsites, supervising and coordinating activities. On Friday evening, participants will return home.

How much does it cost? There is no cost to participants. All expenses are covered through a variety of scholarships, donations, and grants.

Do I have to be a sailor or a scientist to go? No! We'll teach you all you need to know.

Who is in charge of this program? The Clearwater organization plans and carries out the program. Specifically, Clearwater's Educator will be aboard for the entire program along with other experienced Clearwater staff. Learn more about the Clearwater organization at www.clearwater.org.
